“By Posting User Content, you affirm, represent, and warrant that: [...] c. your User Content could not be deemed by a reasonable person to be [...] harassing, threatening, embarrassing, hateful, or otherwise inappropriate.” (1)	“You therefore agree not to engage in the conduct described below (or to facilitate or support others in doing so): That is unlawful, [...] discriminatory, [...] (or assists someone else in using our Products in such a way).” (6)
“By using the Platform, you agree not to:” [...] n. use the Platform in any manner to harass, abuse, stalk, threaten, defame, or otherwise infringe or violate the rights of any other party;” (1)	“Prohibited Practices. You will not perform, or facilitate or support others in performing, any of the following prohibited practices (collectively, “Prohibited Practices”): Processing Platform Data to discriminate or encourage discrimination in a manner that disadvantages people based on personal attributes including race, ethnicity, color, national origin, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, family status, disability, medical or genetic condition, or any other categories prohibited by applicable law, regulation, or Meta policy.” (7)
“Don't do things that will hurt or harm other people. Don't act in ways that would upset people, cause them trouble, or disturb them.” (3)	“Community Standards. You represent and warrant that you: [...] (d) will not use the Avatars Services, including any Meta Avatar, to produce, share, or otherwise make available any content or engage in any behavior that is unlawful, harmful, threatening, obscene, violent, abusive, tortious, defamatory, libelous, vulgar, lewd, racist, sexist, homophobic, invasive of another's privacy, right of publicity, or other proprietary rights, or that otherwise violates the Community Standards;” (10)
“Sexist, racist, hateful, or discriminatory language, behavior, iconography, groups, or content is never permitted in any form. We do not tolerate intolerance. Do not attack or discriminate against a person or a community based on attributes such as race, ethnicity, caste, national origin, sex, gender identity, gender presentation, sexual orientation, religious affiliation, age, medical condition, disability, or other protected classification.” (4)	“Don't do or promote anything that's illegal, abusive or could lead to physical harm, such as: [...] Sexualising, exploiting or abusing minors [...] Bullying, harassing, stalking or hateful behaviour [...] Advocating, engaging in or promoting violence, human exploitation, human trafficking or human smuggling. Supporting or representing groups or individuals involved in terrorism, hate-based organisations or criminal groups [...] Promoting or coordinating acts of physical harm, such as sexual or physical assault, or suicide or self-harm

	[...] Any form of non-consensual intimate activity, including sharing intimate images of others without consent” (11)
“Do not engage in, promote, organize, or participate in terrorism or violent extremism. This includes the organization, promotion, or support of violent extremism, including the glorification of violent events, perpetrators of said events or acts, or similar behaviors.” (4)	“In an effort to prevent and disrupt offline harm and copycat behavior, we prohibit people from facilitating, organizing, promoting or admitting to certain criminal or harmful activities targeted at people, businesses, property or animals. We allow people to debate and advocate for the legality of criminal and harmful activities, as well as draw attention to harmful or criminal activity that they may witness or experience as long as they do not advocate for or coordinate harm. [...] Harm against people [...] Outing [...] Outing the undercover status of law enforcement, military, or security personnel if the content contains the agent’s name, their face or badge [...] Coordinating, threatening, supporting, or admitting to swatting [...] Depicting, promoting, advocating for or encouraging participation in a high-risk viral challenge [...] Harm against animals [...] Coordinating, threatening, supporting or admitting to acts of physical harm against animals [...] Coordinating, threatening, supporting, depicting or admitting to staged animal fights or depicting video imagery of fake animal rescues [...] Harm against property [...] Coordinating, threatening, supporting or admitting to vandalism or theft [...] Voter and/or census fraud ” (12)
“Do not make threats of violence, threaten to harm others, or encourage harm. This includes: Direct, indirect, or suggestive threats. Sharing or threatening to share someone's personally identifiable information, also known as “doxxing”. This applies regardless of whether the information is publicly available. Content or behavior that glorifies or promotes violence, suicide, or self-harm.” (4)	“In an effort to prevent and disrupt real-world harm, we do not allow organizations or individuals that proclaim a violent mission or are engaged in violence to have a presence on our platforms. We assess these entities based on their behavior both online and offline, most significantly, their ties to violence. Under this policy, we designate individuals, organizations, and networks of people. These designations are divided into two tiers that indicate the level of content enforcement, with Tier 1 resulting in the most extensive enforcement because we believe these entities have the most direct ties to offline harm. [...] We remove Glorification, Support and Representation of various dangerous organizations and individuals. These concepts apply to the organizations themselves, their activities, and their members. These concepts do not proscribe peaceful advocacy for particular political outcomes.” (12)

“Do not promote or engage in the abuse or endangerment of minors, including (but not limited to) physical, mental, emotional, and/or substance abuse.” (4)	“We aim to prevent potential offline violence that may be related to content on our platforms. While we understand that people commonly express disdain or disagreement by threatening or calling for violence in non-serious and casual ways, we remove language that incites or facilitates violence and credible threats to public or personal safety. This includes violent speech targeting a person or group of people on the basis of their protected characteristic(s) or immigration status. We remove content, disable accounts and work with law enforcement when we believe there is a genuine risk of physical harm or direct threats to public safety. We also try to consider the language and context in order to distinguish casual or awareness-raising statements from content that constitutes a credible threat to public or personal safety. In determining whether a threat is credible, we may also consider additional information such as a person's public visibility and the risks to their physical safety. [...] We remove threats of violence against various targets. Threats of violence are statements or visuals representing an intention, aspiration, or call for violence against a target, and threats can be expressed in various types of statements such as statements of intent, calls for action, advocacy, expressions of hope, aspirational statements and conditional statements. [...] Additional protections for Private Adults, All Children, high-risk persons and persons or groups based on their protected characteristics: In addition to the universal protections for everyone, all private adults (when self-reported), children and persons or groups of people targeted on the basis of their protected characteristic(s), are protected from threats of low-severity violence. [...] For the following Community Standards, we require additional information and/or context to enforce: We Remove: Threats against law enforcement officers or election officials, regardless of their public figure status or credibility of the threat.

	Coded statements where the method of violence is not clearly articulated, but the threat is veiled or implicit, as shown by the combination of both a threat signal and contextual signal from the list below.” (12)
“Do not engage in, promote, organize, or participate in self-harming or suicidal behaviors. Do not depict, promote, or provide instructions for suicide or self-harm in any form. Do not depict, promote, or encourage weight-based bullying or eating disorders. Do not engage in, promote, organize, or participate in self-harming or suicidal behaviors. Do not depict, promote, or provide instructions for suicide or self-harm in any form. Do not depict, promote, or encourage weight-based bullying or eating disorders.” (4)	“Bullying and harassment happen in many places and come in many different forms from making threats and releasing personally identifiable information to sending threatening messages and making unwanted malicious contact. We do not tolerate this kind of behavior because it prevents people from feeling safe and respected on Facebook, Instagram, and Threads. We distinguish between public figures and private individuals because we want to allow discussion, which often includes critical commentary of people who are featured in the news or who have a large public audience. [...] For private individuals, our protection goes further: We remove content that's meant to degrade or shame, including, for example, claims about someone's sexual activity. We recognize that bullying and harassment can have more of an emotional impact on minors, which is why our policies provide heightened protection for anyone under the age 18, regardless of user status. [...] Everyone is protected from: Unwanted contact [...] Calls for self-injury or suicide of a specific person, or group of individuals. [...] Claims that a violent tragedy did not occur. [...] Claims that individuals are lying about being a victim of a violent tragedy or terrorist attack [...] Calls for, or statements of intent to engage in, bullying and/or harassment. [...] Content that degrades or expresses disgust toward individuals who are depicted in the process of, or right after, menstruating, urinating, vomiting, or defecating [...] Everyone is protected from the following, but for adult public figures, they must be purposefully exposed to: Calls for death and statements in favor of contracting or developing a medical condition. Celebration or mocking of death or medical condition. Claims about sexually transmitted infections. Statements of inferiority about physical appearance. [...] All minors (private individuals and public figures), private adults and limited scope public figures) are protected from the following, but for minor public figures, they must be purposefully exposed to:

[...] Dehumanizing comparisons

[...] Content manipulated to highlight, circle, or otherwise negatively draw attention to specific physical characteristics

[...] Content that ranks them based on physical appearance or character traits

[...] Content that degrades individuals who are depicted being physically bullied

[...] In addition to all the protections listed above, all private minors, private adults (who must self-report), and minor involuntary public figures are protected from Targeted cursing.

Claims about romantic involvement, sexual orientation or gender identity. Calls for action, statements of intent, aspirational or conditional statements, or statements advocating or supporting exclusion. Negative character or ability claims, except in the context of criminal allegations and business reviews against adults.

Expressions of contempt, disgust, or content rejecting the existence of an individual, except in the context of criminal allegations against adults. When self-reported, private minors, private adults, and minor involuntary public figures are protected from the following:

First-person voice bullying. Unwanted manipulated imagery. Comparison to other public, fictional or private individuals on the basis of physical appearance. Claims about religious identity or blasphemy [...] Comparisons to animals or insects that are not culturally perceived as intellectually or physically inferior ("tiger," "lion"). Neutral or positive physical descriptions. Non-negative character or ability claims. Attacks through derogatory terms related to a lack of sexual activity.

[...] Minors get the most protection under our policy. In addition to all the protections listed above, private minors are also protected from:

Allegations about criminal or illegal behavior.

Videos of physical bullying against minors, shared in any context. Derogatory terms related to female gendered cursing.

[...] For the following Community Standards, we require additional information and/or context to enforce:

Do not:

[...] Post content calling for or stating an intent to engage in behavior that would qualify as bullying and harassment under our policies. We will remove this content when we have confirmation from the target or an authorized representative of the target that the content is unwanted. [...] Remove directed mass harassment, when: Targeting, via any surface, ‘individuals at heightened risk of offline harm’ [...] Targeting any individual via personal surfaces, such as inbox or profiles, with: Content that violates the bullying and harassment policies for private individuals or, Objectionable content that is based on a protected characteristic [...] Disable accounts engaged in mass harassment” (12) “Harmful, hateful, or illegal activity is never allowed on VRChat, even if everyone is informed or consents.” (4)	“We care deeply about the safety of the people who use our apps. We regularly consult with experts in suicide, self-injury and eating disorders to help inform our policies and enforcement, and we work with organizations around the world to provide assistance to people in distress. [...] While we do not allow people to intentionally or unintentionally celebrate or promote suicide, self-injury or eating disorders, we do allow people to discuss these topics because we want our services to be a space where people can share their experiences, raise awareness about these issues, and seek support from one another. We may also limit the ability to view this content to adults aged 18 and older. We remove any content that encourages suicide, self-injury or eating disorders, including fictional content such as memes or illustrations, and any self-injury content which is graphic, regardless of context. We remove content that contains instructions for extreme weight loss behaviour. We also remove content that mocks victims or survivors of suicide, self-injury or eating disorders, as well as real time depictions of suicide or self-injury. Content about recovery from suicide, self-injury or eating disorders that is allowed, but may contain imagery that could be upsetting (such as a healed scar) is placed behind a sensitivity screen and we will also limit the ability to view the content to adults aged 18 and older. [...] When people post or search for suicide, self-injury or eating disorders related content, we will direct them to local organizations that can provide support and if our Community Operations team is concerned about immediate harm we will contact local emergency services to get them help. For more information, visit the Meta Safety Center.

With respect to live content, experts have told us that if someone is saying they intend to attempt suicide on a livestream, we should leave the content up for as long as possible because the longer someone is talking to a camera, the more opportunity there is for a friend or family member to call emergency services. However, to minimize the risk of others being negatively impacted by viewing this content, we will stop the livestream at the point at which the threat turns into an attempt.

[...] We do not allow:

[...] Content that promotes, encourages, coordinates, or provides instructions for suicide, self-injury, or eating disorders

[...] Content that depicts graphic suicide, self-injury or eating disorder imagery [...] Content depicting a person who engaged in a suicide attempt or death by suicide

[...] Content that mocks victims or survivors of suicide, self-injury or eating disorders who are either publicly known or implied to be experiencing or have experienced suicide, self-injury or eating disorders

[...] Imagery depicting body modification (e.g., tattoo, piercing, scarification, self-flagellation, etc.) when shared in a suicide or self-injury context [...]

For the following content, we include a warning screen so that people are aware the content may be sensitive. We also limit the ability to view the content to adults, ages 18 and older:

[...] Photos or videos depicting a person who engaged in euthanasia/assisted suicide in a medical setting

[...] Content that depicts older instances of self-injury such as healed cuts or other non-graphic self-injury imagery in a self-injury, suicide or recovery context

[...] For the following content, we provide resources to people and limit the ability to view the content to adults aged 18 and older:

[...] Written or verbal admission of suicide, self-injury or eating disorders

[...] Vague, potentially suicidal statements or references (including memes or stock imagery about sad mood depression, presenting death as an escape, or content from popular culture with emphasis on dark, depressive thoughts) in a suicide or self-injury context.

	[...] For the following content, we limit the ability to view the content to adults aged 18 and older: [...] Mocking or dismissing the concept of suicide, self-injury or eating disorders [...] Narratives that contain a description of suicide with details that go beyond the mere naming or mentioning of the act or the aftermath [...] For the following Community Standards, we require additional information and/or context to enforce: [...] We may remove suicide notes when we have confirmation of a suicide or suicide attempt” (12)
“We have a zero-tolerance policy for some violations that may lead to critical physical, psychological, and societal harm. These policy violations will be enforced with an immediate, permanent, and irreversible ban. These zero-tolerance offenses encompass, but are not limited to, [...] credible threats of violence posing real-world physical harm, and terrorist content.” (4)	“We believe that people use their voice and connect more freely when they don’t feel attacked on the basis of who they are. That is why we don’t allow hateful conduct on Facebook, Instagram, or Threads. We define hateful conduct as direct attacks against people — rather than concepts or institutions — on the basis of what we call protected characteristics (PCs): race, ethnicity, national origin, disability, religious affiliation, caste, sexual orientation, sex, gender identity, and serious disease. Additionally, we consider age a protected characteristic when referenced along with another protected characteristic. We also protect refugees, migrants, immigrants, and asylum seekers from the most severe attacks (Tier 1 below), though we do allow commentary on and criticism of immigration policies. [...] We remove dehumanizing speech, allegations of serious immorality or criminality, and slurs. We also remove harmful stereotypes, which we define as dehumanizing comparisons that have historically been used to attack, intimidate, or exclude specific groups, and that are often linked with offline violence. Finally, we remove serious insults, expressions of contempt or disgust, cursing, and calls for exclusion or segregation when targeting people based on protected characteristics. [...] We remove dehumanizing speech, allegations of serious immorality or criminality, and slurs. We also remove harmful stereotypes, which we define as dehumanizing comparisons that have historically been used to attack, intimidate, or exclude specific groups, and that are often linked with offline violence. Finally, we remove serious insults, expressions of contempt or disgust, cursing, and calls for exclusion or segregation when targeting people based on protected characteristics. We separate this speech into two tiers of severity [...] We recognize that people sometimes share content that includes slurs or someone else's speech in order to condemn the speech or report on it. In other cases, speech, including slurs, that might otherwise violate our standards is used self-referentially or in an empowering way. We allow this type of speech where the speaker's intention is clear. Where intention is unclear, we may remove content.

People sometimes use sex- or gender-exclusive language when discussing access to spaces often limited by sex or gender, such as access to bathrooms, specific schools, specific military, law enforcement, or teaching roles, and health or support groups. Other times, they call for exclusion or use insulting language in the context of discussing political or religious topics, such as when discussing transgender rights, immigration, or homosexuality. Finally, sometimes people curse at a gender in the context of a romantic break-up. Our policies are designed to allow room for these types of speech.

[...] Tier 1

[...] Content targeting a person or group of people (except groups described as having carried out violent or sexual crimes or representing less than half of a group) on the basis of their aforementioned protected characteristic(s) or immigration status in written or visual form with: Dehumanizing speech[,]
Allegations of serious immorality and criminality[,]
Calls and hopes for the following harms[,]
Harmful stereotypes historically linked to intimidation or violence[,] Mocking the concept, events or victims of hate crimes[,] Mocking people for having or experiencing a disease[,]
Content that describes or negatively targets people with slurs

[...] Tier 2

[...] Content targeting a person or group of people on the basis of their protected characteristic(s) (in written or visual form) with:
Calls or support for exclusion or segregation or statements of intent to exclude or segregate

[...] Insults

[...] Expressions that suggest the target causes sickness

[...] Targeted cursing, except certain

	gender-based cursing in a romantic break-up context [...] For the following Community Standards, we require additional information and/or context to enforce: Do not post: Content explicitly providing or offering to provide products or services that aim to change people's sexual orientation or gender identity [...] Content attacking concepts, institutions, ideas, practices, or beliefs associated with protected characteristics, which are likely to contribute to imminent physical harm, intimidation or discrimination against the people associated with that protected characteristic [...] In certain cases, we will allow content that may otherwise violate the Community Standards when it is determined that the content is satirical" (12)
"Content must never include real media depicting gore, excessive violence, or animal harm, especially with the intention to harass or shock others." (5)	"We understand that people have different sensitivities with regard to graphic and violent imagery. To protect users from such content, we remove the most graphic content and add warning labels to other types of content so that people are aware it may be sensitive before they click through. We restrict the ability for younger users to see content that may not be suitable or age-appropriate for them. [...] Do not post: [...] Imagery of people[:] [...] Videos of people, living or deceased, in non-medical contexts [...] Sadistic Remarks[:] Sadistic remarks are commentary – such as captions or comments – expressing joy or pleasure from the suffering or humiliation of people or animals [...] For the following content, we include a warning screen so that people are aware the content may be sensitive. We also limit the ability to view the content to adults, ages 18 and older: [...] Imagery of people [...] Videos of people, living or deceased, in medical contexts [...] Imagery (both videos and still images) depicting a persons' violent death (including their moment of death or the aftermath) or a person experiencing a life threatening event (such as being struck by a car, falling from a great height, or experiencing other possibly-fatal physical injury). [...] Imagery depicting capital punishment of a person (excluding live-streams).

[...] Imagery depicting acts of brutality (e.g., acts of violence or lethal threats on forcibly restrained subjects) committed against a person or group of people.

[...] Imagery depicting non-medical foreign objects (e.g., knives, nails, or other metal objects) piercing a person's skin.

[...] Imagery depicting a person's broken, bleeding teeth, removed teeth where blood is present; or the insertion of foreign objects into the teeth or gums.

[...] Imagery depicting fetuses and babies outside of the womb that are deceased, unless another person is present in the image.

[...] Imagery of animals [...] For the following content, we limit the ability to view it to users who are 18 and older:

[...] Imagery of people

[...] Imagery depicting partially or fully uncovered deceased people, even if there are no visible indicators of violent death.

[...] Imagery depicting fetuses and babies outside of the womb that are deceased, when another person is present in the image.

[...] Imagery depicting needles piercing a person's skin outside of a vaccination, acupuncture or dry-needling, tattooing, or piercing context.

[...] Imagery depicting injured people in medical contexts when they appear to be in pain or distress, bruised, or with medical tubing in their face and/or hands.

[...] Imagery depicting human waste and bodily fluids (e.g., feces, urine, vomit, earwax, mucus, byproduct of dermal extractions, or blood).

[...] Imagery depicting vehicles that are burning or exploding, or depicting the moment or aftermath of speeding vehicles' impact with other objects where the vehicle is dislodged from its path and / or the vehicle's driver or passenger compartments are severely damaged.

[...] Imagery of animals

[...] Imagery depicting animals, living or dead, where visible blood is present.

[...] Imagery depicting animals in a birthing context (e.g., there is blood or visible innards present).

[...] Imagery depicting animals, living or dead, where insects are seen coming out of them (e.g., maggots or worms).

[...] Imagery depicting injured animals suffering.

[...] Fictional Imagery" (12)

“Worlds containing “inflammatory” content may not be published to Community Labs or Public status. This means things like controversial topics, sensitive, intimate, or provocative content, or extreme horror or “shock” content.” (5)

“There are three different ratings, each created with industry standards in mind:
[...] Ages 10+: These worlds and events are appropriate for ages 10 and up. They may have mild language, minimal suggestive themes and/or cartoon, fantasy or mild violence.
[...] Ages 13+: These worlds and events are appropriate for ages 13 and up and may have violence, suggestive themes, crude humour, minimal blood, simulated gambling and/or infrequent use of strong language.
[...] Ages 18+: These worlds and events are generally appropriate for people ages 18 and up and may include intense violence, sexual content, strong language and/or regulated goods such as tobacco or alcohol. Creators can also give their worlds this rating if they only want adults ages 18 and up to be able to see and visit their world.” (13)

“Avatars containing inflammatory content may not be set to the Public status. This includes controversial topics, sensitive, [...] provocative content, or extreme horror or “shock” content. Public avatars should be similar to what you'd see at a big event, a parade, a shopping center, or a family-friendly beach. Private avatars may contain some of this content (controversial, sensitive, [...] provocative, extreme horror) but they cannot be used in public spaces.” (5)

“In addition to what's not allowed under the Code of Conduct for Virtual Experiences, we don't allow public worlds and events to have content that:
[...] Promotes criminal or dangerous activity
[...] Depicts real-life violent and graphic content, including blood and gore” (13)

“Content Warning Labels - Graphic violence - Avatars or worlds that depict or encourage acts of violence in a detailed, realistic manner. This includes but is not limited to depictions of physical harm, depictions of self-harm, realistic weapons with violent animations, and other related content. This label is not meant for “cartoon”-style violence but indicates that the content has some level of realism.
Content labeled as "graphic violence" could be an avatar wielding a hyper-realistic gun with violent shooting animations or a world that simulates a battlefield with lifelike harm.
Excessive gore - Avatars or worlds that contain overly graphic or vivid depictions of blood, guts, or bodily dismemberment. This can include animations, textures, or scenes that aim to shock or disgust. Content labeled as "excessive gore" might feature an avatar with “Worlds is committed to maintaining a respectful and enjoyable environment for all users. As part of our ongoing effort, we've introduced the community moderator role in public worlds. This article outlines the responsibilities, capabilities and best practices associated with the moderator role.

[...] Example scenarios:
[...] Inappropriate language: Someone is using inappropriate language. The community moderator should first issue a verbal warning. If the behaviour continues, they can mute the user for 15 minutes, after confirming the action and selecting an appropriate reason.
[...] Bullying: Sometimes, people's behaviour may cross a line. If you believe someone is bullying another player, submit a report to Meta so we can investigate.” (15) overly graphic, realistic injuries or a world that depicts a gruesome, realistic crime scene. Extreme horror - Avatars or worlds designed to instill intense fear, anxiety, or distress. This could include deeply unsettling themes or disturbing imagery beyond conventional and well-known horror aesthetics. This label isn't meant for the common types of "jumpscare" horror or "spooky" worlds, it's a few levels above that. Content labeled as "extreme horror" could include avatars with grotesque features meant to disturb, or worlds meant to horrify or shock visitors." (5)

"As a creator or admin of a members-only world, you have a responsibility to ensure that the world is a safe and inclusive space for all members. [...] Bullying: Address immediately with a verbal warning, escalate to muting and consider removal. Ensure that the perpetrator understands the violation." (16)

"These guidelines help make the VR platform safe and welcoming to our diverse user base. [...] Developer app content must not include the following:
[...] Excessively violent content (including cannibalism, glorification of gore, and dismemberment) or content that facilitates, coordinates or promotes exploitation (including human trafficking, child abuse or exploitation, torture, rape or animal abuse).
[...] Hateful behavior, harmful stereotypes, or the promotion or incitement of violence against individuals or groups based on protected characteristics. We don't allow content that attacks people based on race, ethnicity, national origin, religious affiliation, sexual orientation, caste, sex, gender, gender identity, and serious disease or disability.
[...] Bullying, harassment, or threats against individuals.
[...] Content created by organizations or individuals engaged in terrorist, organized hate, or organized violence activity.
[...] Content that praises, supports or represents real organized violent groups or individuals, including those engaging in terrorism, crime and hate.
[...] Content with the intent to glorify, praise, or support real terrorists, organized hate, or organized violence organizations or the leaders or individuals involved in these activities.

	[...] Content that promotes suicide, self harm, or eating disorders. [...] When it comes to developer app content that is mature (for instance, violence, alcohol/drugs, nudity, or adult language), we are likely to accept content that generally falls within the threshold of an R-rating for a movie.” (19)
	“Ads must not attack people on the basis of what we call protected characteristics: race, ethnicity, national origin, disability, religious affiliation, caste, sexual orientation, sex, gender identity and serious disease. [...] Ads must not contain attacks that are meant to degrade or shame public and private individuals. We also provide heightened protections for anyone under the age 18, regardless of their user status. [...] Ads must not contain shocking, sensational or excessively violent content. [...] Ads Must Comply with the Community Standard on Suicide, Self-Injury, and Eating Disorders. Ads must not encourage suicide, self-injury, or eating disorders, including fictional content such as memes or illustrations and any such content which is graphic, regardless of context. In addition, Ads must not mock victims or survivors of suicide, self-injury or eating disorders, as well as real time depictions of suicide, self-injury, or eating disorders.” (22)
	“At Meta, we’re committed to giving people a voice and keeping them safe” (23)
	“Some people might share content or engage in behavior that isn't suitable for everyone. This could include rude language, offensive behavior, or other things that just make you feel uncomfortable.” (24)

Sexual Harassment
VRChat	Horizon Worlds/Worlds
“By Posting User Content, you affirm, represent, and warrant that: [...] c. your User Content could not be deemed by a reasonable person to be objectionable, profane, indecent, pornographic, harassing, threatening, embarrassing, hateful, or otherwise inappropriate.” (1)	“You therefore agree not to engage in the conduct described below (or to facilitate or support others in doing so): That is unlawful, [...] discriminatory [...] (or assists someone else in using our Products in such a way).” (6)
“Don't do things that will hurt or harm other people. Don't act in ways that would upset people, cause them trouble, or disturb them.” (4)	“Community Standards. You represent and warrant that you: [...] (d) will not use the Avatars Services, including any Meta Avatar, to produce, share, or otherwise make available any content or engage in any behavior that is unlawful, harmful, threatening, obscene, violent, abusive, tortious, defamatory, libelous, vulgar, lewd, racist, sexist, homophobic, invasive of another's privacy, right of publicity, or other proprietary rights, or that otherwise violates the Community Standards,” (10)
“Keep private things private. If you have content that might be sensitive, intimate, or provocative, keep it in private spaces with consenting adults.” (4)	“Don't do or promote anything that's illegal, abusive or could lead to physical harm, such as: [...] Sexualising, exploiting or abusing minors [...] Bullying, harassing, stalking or hateful behaviour [...] Advocating, engaging in or promoting violence, human exploitation, human trafficking or human smuggling. Supporting or representing groups or individuals involved in terrorism, hate-based organisations or criminal groups [...] Promoting or coordinating acts of physical harm, such as sexual or physical assault, or suicide or self-harm [...] Any form of non-consensual intimate activity, including sharing intimate images of others without consent” (11)
“Do not share sexually explicit or provocative content or paraphernalia. Do not solicit or harass others for sexual activities or services. Do not promote or engage in non-consensual sexual conduct. Do not promote or share non-consensual intimate imagery (“NCII”). NCII sharing is the act of sharing intimate images or videos of someone, either on or offline, without their consent.” (4)	“Also, do not take advantage of the unique characteristics of public experiences by sharing content that others do not wish to see. [...] Do not: Engage in or share sexually explicit or excessively violent behaviour or content.” (11)

“Do not solicit, engage in, or share sexual content or activities with minors. Do not promote or engage in the abuse or endangerment of minors, including (but not limited to) physical, mental, emotional, and/or substance abuse. Do not expose minors to adult content or engage in adult activity with minors present. As an adult, you are responsible for the protection and well-being of minors. VRChat maintains a zero-tolerance stance against Child Sexual Exploitation and Abuse (“CSEA”) and all other forms of minor endangerment. Accounts found engaging in such activities will be immediately and permanently banned. All instances of child sexual exploitation, grooming, and illegal content involving minors will be promptly reported to the relevant legal authorities. We will do our best to ensure that appropriate action is taken beyond our platform.” (4)

“We recognize the importance of our services as a place to discuss and draw attention to sexual violence and exploitation. We believe this is an important part of building common understanding and community. In an effort to create space for this conversation and promote a safe environment, we allow survivors to share their experiences, but we remove content that depicts, threatens or promotes sexual violence, sexual assault or sexual exploitation. We also remove content that displays, advocates for or coordinates sexual acts with non-consenting parties to avoid facilitating non-consensual sexual acts. Further, if we become aware of any content that threatens or advocates rape, we may disable the posting account and work with law enforcement, in addition to removing the content. To protect survivors, we remove images that depict incidents of sexual violence and intimate images shared without the consent of the person(s) pictured. As noted in the introduction, we also work with external safety experts to discuss and improve our policies and enforcement around online safety issues, and we may remove content when we receive information that content is linked to harmful activity.

[...] We do not allow:

Content depicting, advocating for, or mocking non-consensual sexual touching

[...] Content, activity or interactions that attempts to exploit people by [...] Content relating to necrophilia or forced stripping [...]

For the following content, we include a sensitivity screen so that people are aware the content may be upsetting to some:

Narratives and statements that contain a description of non-consensual sexual touching (written or verbal) that includes details beyond mere naming or mentioning the act if:

[...] Shared by the survivor, or

[...] Shared by a third party (other than the survivor) in support of the survivor or condemnation of the act or for general awareness to be determined by context/caption.

[...] We may restrict visibility to people over the age of 18 and include a warning label on certain content including: Content depicting non-consensual sexual touching when: Shared to raise awareness (without entertainment or sensational context), The survivor is not identifiable, and The content does not involve nudity[.] Content depicting fictional non-consensual sexual touching (movie trailers, etc.) when shared by trusted partners to raise awareness and without sensational context“ (12)

“The provocative behavior restrictions will not apply in Private instances as long as everyone present consents. Minors cannot consent to provocative behavior. People who engage in provocative behavior with minors present will always be subject to enforcement, no matter what instance type they are in.” (4)	“We do not allow content or activity that sexually exploits or endangers children. When we become aware of apparent child exploitation, we report it to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC), in compliance with applicable law. We know that sometimes people share nude images of their own children with good intentions; however, we generally remove these images because of the potential for abuse by others and to help avoid the possibility of other people reusing or misappropriating the images.” (12)
“We have a zero-tolerance policy for some violations that may lead to critical physical, psychological, and societal harm. These policy violations will be enforced with an immediate, permanent, and irreversible ban. These zero-tolerance offenses encompass, but are not limited to, the distribution of child sexual abuse material (“CSAM”), CSEA, non-consensual intimate imagery” (4)	“Bullying and harassment happen in many places and come in many different forms from making threats and releasing personally identifiable information to sending threatening messages and making unwanted malicious contact. We do not tolerate this kind of behavior because it prevents people from feeling safe and respected on Facebook, Instagram, and Threads. We distinguish between public figures and private individuals because we want to allow discussion, which often includes critical commentary of people who are featured in the news or who have a large public audience. [...] For private individuals, our protection goes further: We remove content that's meant to degrade or shame, including, for example, claims about someone's sexual activity. We recognize that bullying and harassment can have more of an emotional impact on minors, which is why our policies provide heightened protection for anyone under the age 18, regardless of user status. [...] Everyone is protected from: Unwanted contact that is: Repeated, OR Sexually harassing, [...] Attacks based on their experience of sexual assault, sexual exploitation, sexual harassment, or domestic abuse. Statements of intent to engage in a sexual activity or advocating to engage in a sexual activity. Severe sexualized commentary. Derogatory sexualized photoshop or drawings[.] Attacks through derogatory terms related to sexual activity (for example: whore, slut). [...] Calls for, or statements of intent to engage in, bullying and/or harassment.

	[...] Everyone is protected from the following, but for adult public figures, they must be purposefully exposed to: [...] Claims about sexually transmitted infections. [...] Statements of inferiority about physical appearance. [...] In addition to the universal protections for everyone, all minors (private individuals and public figures), private adults and limited scope public figures are protected from: Claims about sexual activity, except in the context of criminal allegations against adults (non-consensual sexual touching). Content sexualizing another adult (sexualization of minors is covered in the Child Sexual Exploitation, Abuse and Nudity policy). [...] Content that ranks them based on physical appearance or character traits. [...] In addition to all the protections listed above, all private minors, private adults (who must self-report), and minor involuntary public figures are protected from: Targeted cursing. Claims about romantic involvement, sexual orientation or gender identity. [...] When self-reported, private minors, private adults, and minor involuntary public figures are protected from the following: [...] Unwanted manipulated imagery. [...] Attacks through derogatory terms related to a lack of sexual activity. [...]" (12)
"If you experience harassment or receive unwanted communications from other people on platforms outside of VRChat, it is crucial to utilize the moderation tools or reporting procedures available on those specific platforms. Please be aware that VRChat may consider relevant off-platform behavior, such as hateful conduct or harmful conduct toward minors supported by credible and verifiable evidence, when conducting a review to determine appropriate enforcement action." (4)	"We do not allow content or activity that sexually exploits or endangers children. When we become aware of apparent child exploitation, we report it to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC), in compliance with applicable law. [...] Do not post: [...] Content, activity, or interactions that threaten, depict, praise, support, provide instructions for, make statements of intent, admit participation in, or share links of the sexual exploitation of children (including real minors, toddlers, or babies, or non-real depictions with a human likeness, such as in art, AI-generated content, fictional characters, dolls, etc). [...] Content that solicits sexual content or activity depicting or involving children [...] Content that constitutes or facilitates inappropriate interactions with children [...] Content that attempts to exploit real children [...] Content that depicts real or non-real child nudity [...] Videos or photos that depict real or non-real non-sexual child abuse regardless of sharing intent, unless the imagery is from real-world art, cartoons, movies or video games Content that praises, supports, promotes, advocates for, provides instructions for or encourages participation in non-sexual child abuse” (12)

“Public content should never include controversial topics, sensitive, intimate, or provocative material, or extreme horror or “shock” content. This content may be permissible in private instances as long as everyone present consents and has been informed explicitly beforehand.” (5)	“We restrict the display of nudity or sexual activity because some people in our community may be sensitive to this type of content, particularly due to cultural background or age. [...] We default to removing sexual imagery to prevent the sharing of non-consensual or underage content. Under this policy, we remove real photographs and videos of nudity and sexual activity, AI- or computer-generated images of nudity and sexual activity, and digital imagery, regardless of whether it looks “photorealistic” (as in, it looks like a real person). As noted above, we also make careful allowances for real world art and certain medical, educational, and awareness-raising content, and these are detailed in the policy. We do not allow the following content for all users: [...] Adult Nudity [...] Adult Sexual Activity” (12)
“Avatars containing inflammatory content may not be set to the Public status. This includes [...] intimate, or provocative content, [...] Public avatars should be similar to what you'd see at a big event, a parade, a shopping center, or a family-friendly beach. Private avatars may contain some of this content ([...] intimate, provocative [...]) but they cannot be used in public spaces.” (5)	“We believe that people use their voice and connect more freely when they don’t feel attacked on the basis of who they are. That is why we don’t allow hateful conduct on Facebook, Instagram, or Threads. We define hateful conduct as direct attacks against people — rather than concepts or institutions — on the basis of what we call protected characteristics (PCs): race, ethnicity, national origin, disability, religious affiliation, caste, sexual orientation, sex, gender identity, and serious disease. [...] We remove dehumanizing speech, allegations of serious immorality or criminality, and slurs. We also remove harmful stereotypes, which we define as dehumanizing comparisons that have historically been used to attack, intimidate, or exclude specific groups, and that are often linked with offline violence. Finally, we remove serious insults, expressions of contempt or disgust, cursing, and calls for exclusion or segregation when targeting people based on protected characteristics. We separate this speech into two tiers of severity [...] Tier 1 [...]Content targeting a person or group of people (except groups described as having carried out violent or sexual crimes or representing less than half of a group) on the basis of their aforementioned protected characteristic(s) or immigration status in written or visual form with: [...]Content that describes or negatively targets people with slurs [...] Tier 2 [...] Content targeting a person or group of people on the basis of their protected characteristic(s) (in written or visual form) with: [...] Calls or support for exclusion or segregation or statements of intent to exclude or segregate [...] Insults [...] Expressions that suggest the target causes sickness [...] Targeted cursing, except certain gender-based cursing in a romantic break-up context” (12)

“Content Warning Labels - Sexually suggestive - Avatars or worlds that display, imply, or promote sexually provocative poses, clothing, or activities. This includes but is not limited to overly revealing attire, sexually suggestive or provocative animations, or sexually-themed environments and avatars. Content labeled “sexually suggestive” might be an avatar wearing revealing lingerie or an adult-themed dance club.” (5)	“In addition to what's not allowed under the Code of Conduct for Virtual Experiences, we don't allow public worlds and events to have content that: [...] Is sexually explicit or provocative, including nudity, depictions of people in explicit positions, or content or worlds that are sexually provocative or implied” (13)
	“These guidelines help make the VR platform safe and welcoming to our diverse user base. [...] Developer app content must not include the following: [...] Pornography, including content for the purpose of sexual gratification. [...] When it comes to developer app content that is mature (for instance, violence, alcohol/drugs, nudity, or adult language), we are likely to accept content that generally falls within the threshold of an R-rating for a movie.” (19)
	“At Meta, we’re committed to giving people a voice and keeping them safe” (23)

	“Some people might share content or engage in behavior that isn't suitable for everyone. This could include rude language, offensive behavior, or other things that just make you feel uncomfortable.” (24)
	VRChat strives to provide a safe and positive environment. However, it is important to be aware that some players may engage in activities or create content that is inappropriate for children. This includes content that is explicit, offensive, or otherwise unsuitable for younger audiences. Some content may bypass filters or moderation, and players may be exposed to it during normal usage of VRChat. VRChat is used by adults for activities such as online dating, partying, and other adult-oriented interactions. Just like in real life, some appearances and behaviors may be acceptable in specific spaces (bars, nightclubs, house parties, music festivals) but not in others (public parks, outdoor malls, birthday parties). VRChat bans harmful and hateful content, but it generally does not ban content that could be described as "suggestive" or "inappropriate" unless exposed in a public place. Our community guidelines require players to keep adult content private, and most players adhere to this rule. There are, however, occasions when inappropriate content may surface in public spaces where it does not belong. We rely heavily on community reports to identify and address these issues, and we are continuously developing and exploring ways to combat these problems proactively.” (25)

“We aim to protect users and businesses from being deceived out of their money, property or personal information. We achieve this by removing content and combatting behavior that purposefully employs deceptive means - such as wilful misrepresentation, stolen information and exaggerated claims - to either scam or defraud users and businesses, or to drive engagement. This includes content that seeks to coordinate or promote those activities using our services. We allow people to raise awareness and educate others as well as condemn these activities. We do not allow:

Content that attempts to scam or defraud users and/or businesses by means of:

[...] Loan Fraud and Scams

[...] Gambling Fraud and Scams

[...] Investment or Financial Fraud and Scams

[...] Money Muling and Laundering Fraud and Scams

[...] Inauthentic Identity Fraud and Scams

[...] Product or Reward Fraud and Scams

[...] Fake Documents Fraud and Scams

[...] Stolen Information, Goods or Services Fraud and Scam

Unauthorized Use of Devices Fraud and Scam

[...] Deceptive and Misleading Practices [...] For the following Community Standards, we require additional information and/or context to enforce: We may remove content: Involving fraud/scam that have been reported by a trusted entity.

[...] That attempts to establish a fake persona, pretends to be a famous person, or makes unauthorized use of an image of a famous person in an attempt to scam or defraud.

[...] We do not allow entities to participate in or claim to engage in organized Fraud or Scam behavior, including the use of multiple accounts on our services in concert to perpetrate fraudulent behaviors.

“To encourage safety and deter potentially harmful activities, we prohibit attempts by individuals, manufacturers, and retailers to purchase, sell, raffle, gift, transfer or trade certain goods and services on our platform. We do not tolerate the exchange or sale of any drugs that may result in substance abuse covered under our policies below. Brick-and-mortar and online retailers may promote firearms, alcohol, and tobacco items available for sale off of our services; however, we restrict visibility of this content for minors. We allow discussions about the sale of these goods in stores or by online retailers, advocating for changes to regulations of goods and services covered in this policy, and advocating for or concerning the use of pharmaceutical drugs in the context of medical treatment, including discussion of physical or mental side effects. Restricted Goods and Services consist of the following categories: Drugs and Pharmaceuticals[,] Weapons, Ammunitions, or Explosives[,] Tobacco and Related Products[,] Alcohol[,] Health and Wellness[,] Online Gambling and Games[,] Endangered and protected species (wildlife and plants)[,] Historic Artifacts[,] Hazardous Goods and Materials[,] Body Parts and Fluids“ (12)

	“Our services aim to protect the privacy and personal information of our users. [...] We have additional restrictions for paid content. Although we allow ads that provide a positive user experience by focusing on the product’s or service’s details, we remove ads that exploit users’ personal hardships, appear to make negative or inaccurate characterizations about them, or imply knowledge of sensitive personal information.” (12)
	“We understand that people have different sensitivities with regard to graphic and violent imagery. [...] For paid advertising, we provide additional protections. For example, content that has been deemed sensitive is not eligible to run in ads. We also prohibit ads from including images and videos that are shocking, gruesome, or otherwise sensational.” (12)
	“In order to maintain a safe environment and empower free expression, we restrict or remove accounts that are harmful to the community. We have built a combination of automated and manual systems to restrict and remove accounts that are used to egregiously or persistently violate our policies across any of our products.

	[...] We may restrict or disable accounts, other entities (Pages, groups, events) or business assets (Business Managers, ad accounts) that: [...] Violate our Advertising Standards involving deceptive or dangerous business harms [...] Persistently violate our Advertising Standards ” (12)
	“In line with our commitment to authenticity, we don't allow people to misrepresent themselves on our services, use fake accounts, artificially boost the popularity of content, or engage in behaviors designed to enable other violations under our Community Standards. Inauthentic Behavior refers to a variety of complex forms of deception, performed by a network of inauthentic assets controlled by the same individual or individuals, with the goal of deceiving Meta or our community or to evade enforcement under the Community Standards. Where adversarial threat actors use fake accounts to engage in sophisticated Inauthentic tactics in order to influence public debate - they engage in what we've defined as Coordinated Inauthentic Behavior - or coordinated efforts to manipulate public debate for a strategic goal, in which fake accounts are central to the operation. This violating behavior receives a more severe and often bespoke response, in keeping with their more substantial and sophisticated efforts to deceive. [...] We do not allow: The creation, use, or claimed use of Inauthentic Meta Assets [...] Engaging in complex deception through the use of Meta Assets, including: Inauthentic Distribution [...] Inauthentic Audience Building [...] Foreign Inauthentic Behavior [...] Inauthentic Engagement [...] Substantially Similar Deceptions [...] For the following Community Standards, we require additional information and/or context to enforce: We do not allow: Entities to engage in, or claim to engage in Coordinated Inauthentic Behavior, defined as particular ly sophisticated forms of Inauthentic Behavior where inauthentic accounts are central to the operation and operators: [...] Use adversarial methods to evade detection or appear authentic; and [...] Use a variety of adversarial and inauthentic techniques to achieve overarching strategic objectives; and

	[...] Primarily seek to manipulate public debate. [...] Entities to engage in, or claim to engage in Foreign Interference [...] Entities to engage in, or claim to engage in Government Interference [...] Governments that have instituted sustained blocks of social media to use their official departments, agencies, and embassies to deny the use of force or violent events in the context of an attack against the territorial integrity of another state in violation of Article 2(4) of the UN charter” (12)
	“A policy that simply prohibits “misinformation” would not provide useful notice to the people who use our services and would be unenforceable, as we don’t have perfect access to information. Instead, our policies articulate different categories of misinformation and try to provide clear guidance about how we treat that speech when we see it. For each category, our approach reflects our attempt to balance our values of expression, safety, dignity, authenticity, and privacy. We remove misinformation where it is likely to directly contribute to the risk of imminent physical harm. We also remove content that is likely to directly contribute to interference with the functioning of political processes. [...] We require people to disclose, using our AI-disclosure tool, whenever they post organic content with photorealistic video or realistic-sounding audio that was digitally created or altered, and we may apply penalties if they fail to do so. We may also add a label to certain digitally created or altered content that creates a particularly high risk of misleading people on a matter of public importance. Finally, we prohibit content and behavior in other areas that often overlap with the spread of misinformation. For example, our Community Standards prohibit fake accounts, fraud, and coordinated inauthentic behavior. As online and offline environments change and evolve, we will continue to evolve these policies. Accounts that repeatedly share the misinformation listed below may, in addition to having their content enforced on in accordance with this policy, receive decreased distribution, limitations on their ability to advertise, or be removed from our platforms. [...] Misinformation we remove: We remove the following types of misinformation: I. Physical Harm or Violence[:] We remove misinformation or unverifiable rumors that expert partners have determined are likely to directly contribute to a risk of imminent violence or physical harm to people. [...] II. Harmful Health Misinformation We consult with leading health organizations to identify health misinformation likely to directly contribute to imminent harm to public health and safety. [...] III. Voter or Census Interference In an effort to promote election and census integrity, we remove misinformation that is likely to directly contribute to a risk of interference with people's ability to participate in those processes. [...] For the following content, we include an informative label: Manipulated Media. Media can be edited in a variety of ways. In many cases, these changes are benign, such as content being cropped or shortened for artistic reasons or music being added. In other cases, the manipulation is not apparent and could mislead. Content Digitally Created or Altered that May Mislead. For content that does not otherwise violate the Community Standards, we may place an informative label on the face of content – or reject content submitted as an advertisement – when the content is a photorealistic image or video, or realistic sounding audio, that was digitally created or altered and creates a particularly high risk of materially deceiving the public on a matter of public importance.” (12)

	We do not allow content that is designed to deceive, mislead, or overwhelm users in order to artificially increase viewership. This content detracts from people's ability to engage authentically on our platforms and can threaten the security, stability and usability of our services. We also seek to prevent abusive tactics, such as spreading deceptive links to draw unsuspecting users in through misleading functionality or code, or impersonating a trusted domain.” (12)
	“In addition to what's not allowed under the Code of Conduct for Virtual Experiences, we don't allow public worlds and events to have

	“5.1. Use of Non-personal Data. We may collect and use non-personal data generated by MPT Products, as described in these disclosures. Meta will use this non-personal data only for the purposes agreed with the user as follows: to perform services under this and any other applicable agreement; to provide and improve our MPT Products (including ads and providing content); to research and innovate for social good; to promote safety, security and integrity; to assess users' and third-party claims; to transfer, store or process non-personal data globally; to disclose data to third parties in response to legal requests or as required by applicable law; to develop new products or services, including artificial intelligence; to provide measurement, analytics and business services; and as otherwise permitted under applicable law. Where required, we will provide you or third parties that you authorise with access to this data, in accordance with applicable law.” (17)
	“To power social features and personalise and promote content: We use your profile name, picture and information about your Meta VR Product activity (including your use of Meta Quest devices and apps): [...]. To send personalised commercial content [...]. To provide personalised content suggestions [...]. To display ads, offers and sponsored content in Meta VR Products” (18)

	“We encourage developers to create a variety of experiences that users will enjoy, distributed through the Meta Horizon platform. The platform offers APIs, SDKs, tools, plugins, code, technology, content and services that enable developers to run, debug, test and distribute their apps. [...] Do not upload or distribute: Content that contains malicious code, or that introduces or exploits security vulnerabilities. [...] Content or software that interferes with normal system operation, including but not limited to the operating system or other apps on the devices. [...] Content that is ripped, copied, not legally acquired, repetitive or spam. [...] Do not confuse, deceive, impersonate or mislead anyone, or misrepresent yourself, your app, or your organization. Do not encourage, promote or engage in illegal activity. [...] Do not abuse or misuse the platform. Use the platform as intended, e.g., follow the developer documentation. [...] Do not attempt to bypass limits, manipulate the system, or otherwise evade any processes or restrictions for your app, account, organization or device.” (20)
	2.1 You are responsible, as required by applicable law, to obtain any permissions/consents from the end user and/or rely on any appropriate legal basis for use or other processing of Developer User Data. It is also your responsibility to obtain consent or clear direction from end users before you give Meta any Developer User Data. 2.2 You must clearly articulate your collection, use and processing of Developer User Data and User Data (defined below) in a publicly available and easily accessible privacy policy and abide by that privacy policy. [...] 2.3 Your privacy policy may not supersede, modify, be less protective than, or otherwise be inconsistent with this Policy or our other applicable terms and policies with respect to User Data. This Policy applies to all User Data regardless of the disclosures you include in your privacy policy. [...] 2.5 You may only process User Data as clearly described in your privacy policy and in accordance with all applicable law and regulations, this policy, and all other applicable terms and policies.

2.6 You must disclose the collection and use of the Advertising ID in a legally adequate privacy notice to users.

[...]3.2 [...] (b) You can only use the Advertising ID, and any information obtained through the use of the Advertising ID, for advertising purposes. (c) You are only allowed to access the Advertising ID if your app is permitted by Meta policies to show ads. (d) You must verify the status of any user settings regarding the Advertising ID on each access of the Advertising ID. (e) You may combine the Advertising ID with Developer User Data, but you may not combine it with Meta Horizon User Data or Device User Data. See Section 4 for additional limitations.

[...] 4.1 Retaining, using, or disclosing User Data for any purpose other than those described in this Policy, the SDK License Agreement, the allowed use cases of Meta Horizon User Data and any other applicable agreements with Meta;

4.2 Using User Data for marketing or advertising purposes other than those explicitly permitted in Section 3;

4.3 Selling, licensing, purchasing, renting, or lending User Data or similar actions, or permitting a third party to do so;

4.4 Using User Data to profile, discriminate, or encourage discrimination in a manner that disadvantages people based on their race, ethnicity, color, national origin, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, family status, disability, medical or genetic condition, or any other categories protected by applicable law, regulation, or other Meta terms or policy; using User Data such as age group to improve the user experience in your Content is permitted under this Section so long as compliant with applicable law or regulation;

4.5 Using User Data to perform, facilitate, or provide tools for surveillance. Surveillance includes the collection, use, or sharing of information about people, groups, places or events for law enforcement, national security, intelligence or counter-intelligence purposes;

4.6 Using User Data to ascertain the identity of a natural person, including real name, or actual facial or body images, to the extent not disclosed by the User Data (for example, through use of AI, facial recognition or gait identifying technologies);

4.7 Combining User Data with any other data, including with data separately collected by you or received from a third party, except as explicitly permitted in Section 3;

4.8 Attempting to decode, circumvent, re-identify, de-anonymize, unscramble, unencrypt, reverse hash, or reverse engineer User Data that is provided to you;

[...] 4.10 Accessing or collecting User Data or allowing User Data to be collected using automated means such as harvesting bots, robots, spiders, or scrapers; or 4.11 Sending or submitting Device User Data (which does not include Meta Horizon User Data) to Meta through any of Meta's business tools or products, including Meta's Ads or Analytics tools or products.

4.12 Using the Advertising ID for any purpose other than advertising purposes;

4.13 Using any permanent or persistent, device-based identifier (e.g., device serial number), or any data derived therefrom, for purposes of advertising or for the purposes of uniquely identifying a device or user, except as permitted in Section 3.2(f); or 4.14 Circumventing the user's settings for their Advertising ID. Specifically, if a user resets or deletes the Advertising ID, you must not combine, correlate, connect, link, or otherwise associate a previous Advertising ID, or data derived from a previous Advertising ID, with the reset Advertising ID.

[...] You may share User Data only:

5.1 When an end user expressly directs you to share, or expressly consents to your sharing, their User Data with a third party (you must retain proof of the end user's express direction or consent and provide it to us if we ask for it);

[...] 6.1 Data Security Requirements: You must always have in effect and maintain administrative, physical, and technical safeguards that do the following:

(a) Meet or exceed industry standards given the sensitivity of the User Data;

(b) Comply with applicable law and regulations, including data security and privacy laws, rules, and regulations; and

(c) Are designed to prevent any unauthorized (including in violation of this Policy or any other applicable terms or policies) processing (including, for the avoidance of doubt, access, destruction, loss, alteration, disclosure, distribution, or compromise) of User Data.” (21)

“It is an advertiser’s responsibility to understand and comply with our policies outlined in Meta’s Advertising Standards, our Terms of Service and any other applicable terms and guidelines, in addition to all local laws, regulations and, where applicable, self-regulatory advertising codes.

[...] Our policies require all advertisers to comply with the laws in their jurisdiction, not engage in discriminatory practices, and not sell illegal or unsafe substances.

[...] Our policies prohibit ads promoting products, services, schemes or offers using deceptive or misleading practices, including those meant to scam people out of money or personal information.

[...] For that reason, we prohibit ads containing shocking, sensational, or excessively violent content, certain adult content and profanity. We also prohibit other objectionable material, such as content implying or attempting to generate negative self-perception in order to promote diet, weight loss or other health related products.

[...] Ads Must Comply with the Community Standard on Misinformation.

Meta prohibits ads that include content debunked by third-party fact checkers.

Advertisers that repeatedly post information deemed to be false may have restrictions placed on their ability to advertise across Meta technologies. Find out more about our fact-checking program.

Meta also prohibits ads that include misinformation that violates our Community Standards.

[...] Ads must comply with the Community Standard on Cybersecurity.

Ads must not use phishing or social engineering techniques to capture others’ sensitive information, and must not promote or link to malicious code - such as malware or spyware.

Ads must comply with the Community Standard on Spam.

[...] Ensure any ad data collected, received or derived from your Facebook or Instagram ad (“Meta advertising data”) is only shared with someone acting on your behalf, such as your service provider. You are responsible for ensuring your service providers protect any Meta advertising data or any obtained from us, limit their use of all of that information, and keep it confidential and secure.

[...] Don’t use Meta advertising data for any purpose (including retargeting, commingling data across multiple advertisers' campaigns, or allowing piggybacking or redirecting with tags), except on an aggregate and anonymous basis (unless authorized by Meta) and only to assess the performance and effectiveness of your Meta advertising campaigns.

[..] Don't use Meta advertising data, including the targeting criteria for your ad, to build, append to, edit, influence, or augment user profiles, including profiles associated with any mobile device identifier or other unique identifier that identifies any particular user, browser, computer or device.

[...] Don't transfer any Meta advertising data (including anonymous, aggregate, or derived data) to any ad network, ad exchange, data broker or other advertising or monetization related service.” (22)
